A note from our marketing director:

To say that I love working at Sky Realty is a bit of an understatement. How can you not love a company that truly focuses on making sure it's agents and employees live a happy, healthy, and fulfilling life? I have the esteemed honor of getting to design and create all the marketing materials for Sky and it's REALTORS. My interests in graphic design, technology, and working only with real estate agents since 2007 has given me a marketing advantage. I enjoy the challenge of creating the unique designs that set each agent apart and get them excited about marketing their business. It is truly rewarding when agents tell me how I have made an impact towards their success.

If we get a chance to work together, you can rest assured that the experience will be one of satisfaction.

Please take the time to check out my portfolio at www.skyrealty.com/join/ where you can see some of the print and digital branding that I have created to fit the individual style of each agent.

Best Wishes,

Jacqueline Mackey
